As a Voice Practitioner, I draw upon the vocal traditions of Fitzmaurice voicework, Linklater voicework, Alexander Technique, and Knight Thompson Speechwork to offer bespoke and accessible techniques and exercises for Executives, Team Leaders, Public Speakers, Actors, Singers, and Musicians. My pedagogy is centred on co-creation and the liberation of my students/clients, in tandem with the gentle and humane nature of voice practices. My ultimate priority is creating and maintaining a free and safe learning environment for every participant. The voice is our primary artefact of communication, through training we can begin to empower this aspect of our lives and careers. I specialise in facilitating participants with breathing difficulties and my continuing research explores new ways to merge breathwork and vocal traditions to synthesise new ways to accommodate less breath-abled participants. As a voice practitioner, I've witnessed and experienced great feats of personal achievement and it's my honour to now facilitate these experiences for my students and clients. www.dylanrossvoice.com
